Final Program

AUA 61st Annual Meeting
April 24-26, 2014
Stanford University School of Medicine
Stanford, California

Stanford University School of Medicine designates this live activity for a maximum of 11.0 AMA PRA Category 1 Credit(s)™.

A Continuing Medical Education Conference presented by the Department of Anesthesia at the Stanford University School of Medicine

Sponsored by the Stanford University School of Medicine in collaboration with

Stanford Medicine
Association of University Anesthesiologists (AUA)
Join Us at the AUA 61st Annual Meeting!

Welcome to Stanford!

The Stanford Department of Anesthesiology, Perioperative and Pain Medicine is pleased to host the 61st Annual Meeting of the Association of University Anesthesiologists. This meeting is the first since the affiliation of the AUA with the International Anesthesia Research Society, and we have been fortunate to combine the talents of Stanford, the AUA, and the IARS in planning this exciting meeting. The educational sessions will be held in the beautiful Li Ka Shing Center for Learning and Knowledge on the Stanford Medical School campus. The weather in Palo Alto should be beautiful, and attendees can choose to walk or take the shuttle for the mile trip between the headquarters hotel and the educational sessions. We have planned social events for all three evenings, with a reception at the Sheraton Hotel on Thursday night, a reception at the top of the Stanford football stadium on Friday night (including entertainment by the infamous Stanford Marching Band), and a gala dinner at the Arrillaga Alumni Center on campus on Saturday night. The Sheraton Hotel is adjacent to downtown Palo Alto, so you may enjoy strolling through the city after the receptions.

The AUA Scientific and Educational Advisory Boards have again created an innovative program which will share relevant cutting-edge information with the attendees. The President’s Panel will focus on applications of Big Data. The Host Program will be highlighted by John Hennessey, the president of the university, speaking on “Silicon Valley and the Role of Stanford University.” The other speakers will be David Kennedy, a Pulitzer Prize-winning historian, speaking on “Rethinking the Modern American Military,” Sam Gambhir on “New Strategies for Early Cancer Detection” and Caitlin O’Connell-Rodwell on “The Secret Life of Elephants.” As always, throughout the meeting there will be ample opportunities for discussion, networking, and poster viewing.

In the 22 years since Stanford last hosted the AUA meeting, the department, the medical school, and the university have all undergone dramatic change, resulting in a vibrant campus which continues to grow. The Planning Committee wishes to thank the many people who have collaborated to make this the best AUA meeting ever, and we hope you enjoy your visit to Stanford.

Statement of Need: The AUA Annual Meeting is designed for AUA Members / anesthesiologists in the clinical and laboratory setting who desire to improve development of anesthesiology teaching methods by engaging in an interchange of ideas as represented in this meeting.

Target Audience: This course is designed to meet the educational needs of national and international audience of anesthesiologists in clinical and laboratory settings who desire to improve development of anesthesiology teaching methods by engaging in an interchange of ideas as represented in this meeting.

Learning Objectives:

- Analyze new teaching methods that can be utilized in teaching anesthesiology learners, including simulation-based training for catheter insertion, computer-based visual learning, and simulation-based performance assessment
- Develop strategies to apply new teaching methods to various teaching situations
- Evaluate key elements of the Learning Management System
- Evaluate the utilization of lung repair to treat lung injury
- Evaluate the benefits of using stem cells for lung repair
- Analyze recent research findings in airway management, neurotoxicity, regional anesthesia, and other areas relating to their subspecialty interests
- Develop strategies for implementing these research findings in clinical practice

Faculty Disclosure: The Stanford University School of Medicine adheres to ACCME Essential Areas, Standards, and Policies regarding industry support of continuing medical education. Disclosure of faculty and commercial relationships will be made prior to the activity.

Accreditation: The Stanford University School of Medicine is accredited by the Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education (ACCME) to provide continuing medical education for physicians.

Credit Designation: Stanford University School of Medicine designates this live activity for a maximum of 11.0 AMA PRA Category 1 Credit(s)™. Physicians should claim only the credit commensurate with the extent of their participation in the activity.
